A Celebration Day

I remember my birthday celebration when I was like five years old. It all started one day befor my birthday and my mom, Logan, and me made two pinnyadas and after we got finished we left them were the were. We got ready for a delicous meal. The next day we called our freinds to make sure they were coming. Finaly the time came and us and our freinds went and hung up the pinnyadas and we started hacking at them and after we were done with the pinnyadas we went into the house. We played pin the donkey and as you can exspect none of us not even my mom got the tale in the right place. Then after that game we had cookies, ice cream, and other party foods. Finaly the party ended and every body went home and my mom, Logan, and me ate alot of the left over candy and food.
