Presents a One-Day Workshop

Incivilities in Schools: Bullying, Harassment & Hate Behaviors

with

Hilda Clarice Graham

BACKGROUND PERSPECTIVE Many school safety experts and educators agree that school bullying and related behaviors (general incivilities, sexual harassment, hazing, hate/bias behaviors) remain the most underrated problems in American's schools. In a time when the measure of the academic yardstick looms heavily over most school communities, safe, secure and peaceful schools are a critical step toward effectiveness and success. The on-line social world of today's youth has become the most recent setting for the phenomenon of bullying. While the messages of ridicule, exclusion, taunts, threats and gossip remain the same, current technology has revolutionized the delivery of such messages. The consequences of unchecked bullying for the bully, target(s) of bullying and the surrounding school community are well-documented.

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION This interactive training session will journey through the world and phenomenon of school bullying and explore the world of cyberbullying. Participants will learn that within the definition of the problem lie nuances for the response. An emphasis will be placed on situational prevention.

OBJECTIVES

* Share peer norms regarding bullying
* Build understanding regarding the definition of bullying
* Identify issues and trends related to school bullying
* Recognize the consequences of not responding to bullying
* Apply situational prevention strategies
* Identify action steps related to their roles and responsibilities
