This is my essay on the first time I ate gluten-free food. Here are three paragraphs telling what my life was like, my family's problems, and discovering the truth.

My family (Mom, Dad, and), and I lived in a small, tan house. We looked normal, exept I had rashes all the time and brother and sister had diarrhea all the time.

One day my mom came back from work with groceries, which was not unusual but the groceries were. They were gluten-free items. My brother and sister tried them, so naturaly so did I.

The next day my mom put my sister, brother, and I on a gluten-free diet. After a while, my rashes went away. So did my brother and sister's diarrhea. It turns out that my brother and sister and I are gluten.

These were five paragraphs ~~Then~~ introducing you and telling you the story. I am still alergic to gluten, but

I have learned to deal with it.
