The Jelly

Although I have broken many bones, my worst accident was when I got stung by a jellyfish. It was about five or six years ago, but I still have a small scar.

Even though it was a sunny day with a blue sky I got stung. When I got stung I was about ten feet away from a cautioned tube. My stepbrother was about three feet away from me. When I was about five feet away from the beach I felt it. It felt like my leg fell asleep with sharper pains. When I got to where we were sitting it looked like a swollen leg with gooseburmps.

Although most jellyfish are poisonous mine wasn't. When I talked to the life guard he said he got stung about a week before. He also said it would heal over night with Aloe Vera. After that we only went swimming in public pools.

Even now my leg hurts worse if it falls asleep then it use to. If I run the back of my calf and thigh stings. When I walk on my heel it hurts.

As soon as I left Louisiana I went swimming at Given's hot springs. I will never go near a black tube that is cautioned in the ocean.
