INSTRUCTIONAL SUPPORT TOOLS

English/Language Arts • Annotated Content • Original document created by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction For the new Idaho Core State Standards that will be effective in all Idaho schools

This document is designated to help Idaho educators to teach the ELA Idaho Core State Standards.

What is the purpose of this document?

To increase student achievement by ensuring educators understand specifically what the new standards mean a student must know, understand and be able to do.

What is in the document?

Descriptions of what each standard means a student will know, understand, and are able to do. The “annotation” of the standards in this document is an effort to answer a simple question... “What do these standards mean what must a student know and be able to do?” and to ensure the description is helpful, specific and comprehensive for educators.

Key Ideas and Details
CCRA.R.1 Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.	RL.4.1 Refer to details and examples in a text when explaining what the text says explicitly and when drawing inferences from the text.	Fourth grade students should refer to the text when drawing conclusions as well as when answering directly stated questions. The central message or lesson is now referred to as theme (a unifying idea that is a recurrent element in literary or artistic work). Students are continuing to determine a theme and expanding this work to other genres. They are required to refer to the text to describe various story elements. Use questions and prompts such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Can you tell me the reasons why the character said ...in the story? Show me where you linked your thinking to the text. • What are the most important events that happened in the story? How do you know? What is the theme of this text? • Summarize the story from beginning to end in a few sentences. • Can you tell me how the character is feeling in this part of the story? Explain why the character is feeling this way.
CCRA.R.2 Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas.	RL.4.2 Determine a theme of a story, drama, or poem from details in the text; summarize the text.
CCRA.R.3 Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.	RL.4.3 Describe in depth a character, setting, or event in a story or drama, drawing on specific details in the text (e.g., a character’s thoughts, words, or actions).

CCRA.R.4 Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.	RL.4.4 Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including those that allude to significant characters found in mythology (e.g., Herculean).	Students will continue to tell the meaning of words and phrases in a text and focus specifically on mythological characters. Students must tell the differences between poems, drama, and prose using structural elements to create an oral or written response to a text. Students will find the similarities and differences in the narration between a story written in first person and a story written in third person point of view. Use questions and prompts such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What do you do when you come to words or phrases you do not know? (use context) • Can you tell me what is different about these kinds of texts? What is the same? • Think about what you read. Who is telling the story? • Think about what you read. Do you agree with the way the characters are thinking in this story? Do you agree with the way the narrator is thinking in this story? How is your thinking the same or different?
CCRA.R.5 Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole.	RL.4.5 Explain major differences between poems, drama, and prose, and refer to the structural elements of poems (e.g., verse, rhythm, meter) and drama (e.g., casts of characters, settings, descriptions, dialogue, stage directions) when writing or speaking about a text.
CCRA.R.6 Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.	RL.4.6 Compare and contrast the point of view from which different stories are narrated, including the difference between first- and third-person narrations.

They will make connections by comparing what they read to what they visualized and heard. Students will find similarities and differences in themes, topics, and patterns of events among culturally diverse stories, myths, and traditional literature. Use questions and prompts such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What is the same about how the story is presented visually (illustrations) and in writing? What is different? • What happened to the characters that is the same? What happened that is different? • How did characters solve problems in different ways across texts? • How are the plots the same or different across texts?
CCRA.R.8 Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.	RL.4.8 (Not applicable to literature)
CCRA.R.9 Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches the authors take.	RL.4.9 Compare and contrast the treatment of similar themes and topics (e.g., opposition of good and evil) and patterns of events (e.g., the quest) in stories, myths, and traditional literature from different cultures.

Provide a concluding statement or section related to the opinion presented. 	Fourth grade students should write opinion pieces that clearly state their preferences and supply the reasoning for their thinking. In doing so, students need to understand how their reasoning supports their opinion, search and find facts to support their viewpoint, and share this thinking. Students also build their argument by linking their ideas together. At this level, students are using a variety of sentence structures and more complex sentences. They are developing the use of more complex linking phrases like (for instance, in order to, in addition). CCRA.SL.6 Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.	SL.4.6 Differentiate between contexts that call for formal English (e.g., presenting ideas) and situations where informal discourse is appropriate (e.g., small-group discussion); use formal English when appropriate to task and situation.	Students in the fourth grade will combine audio recordings and visual displays, when appropriate, to enhance the development of main ideas or themes. Students in the fourth grade should be exposed to a numerous variety of speaking tasks so they will be able to distinguish between formal and informal discourse. Small-group discussions and formal presentations would be one example of each type of discourse.

Use context (e.g., definitions, examples, or restatements in text) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase. b. Use common, grade-appropriate Greek and Latin affixes and roots as clues to the meaning of a word (e.g., telegraph, photograph, autograph). c. Consult reference materials (e.g., dictionaries, glossaries, thesauruses), both print and digital, to find the pronunciation and determine or clarify the precise meaning of key words and phrases. 	The overall focus of language learning in regards to vocabulary acquisition is to guide students as they make purposeful language choices in writing and speaking in order to communicate effectively in a wide range of print and digital texts. Students need to understand the diversity in standard English and the ways authors use formal and informal voice (dialects, registers) to craft their message for specific purposes. Students also need strategies for learning to make these kinds of choices for themselves as they write and speak in different contexts and for different purposes. Learning words at this stage includes exploring the meaning of simple similes, metaphors, idioms, adages, and proverbs; demonstrating understanding of relationships between words (synonyms and antonyms); growing vocabulary by using known word parts (Greek and Latin affix and root) to acquire unknown words; and developing print and digital reference use (glossary, dictionary, and thesaurus).
