Discussion Director

Name __________________________    Meeting Date ______________________

Book ______________________________    Assignment - P ____ to P ____

Your job is to develop a list of questions that your group might want to discuss about this part of the book. Don't worry about the small details; your task is to help people talk over the big ideas in the reading and share their reactions. Usually the best discussion questions come from your own thoughts, feelings, and concerns as you read. You can list your questions before, during, or after your reading. Or you may use some of the general discussion questions below to develop topics for your group.

Possible discussion questions or topics for today:

1. _________________________________________________________________
2. _________________________________________________________________
3. _________________________________________________________________
4. _________________________________________________________________
5. _________________________________________________________________

Sample Questions:
Can anyone summarize this section briefly?
What was going through your mind as you read this?
Did anything in this section of the book surprise you?
Predict some things that you think will happen next.
How did you feel while reading this part of the book?
What are the one or two most important ideas in this section?

Self Evaluation - Rate yourself on a scale of 1 to 5.

How well did you prepare? [ ]    How well did you participate? [ ]

What grade do you think you deserve? ______    Why? _______________________
__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________

Role sheets developed by Laura Candler (http://home.att.net/~candlers/resources.htm)
Based on roles found in Literature Circles: Voice and Choice in the Student-Centered Classroom by Harvey Daniels.
Your job is to locate a few special selections of the text that your group would like to hear read aloud. The idea is to help people remember some interesting, powerful, funny, puzzling, or important sections of the text. You decide which passages or paragraphs are worth hearing, and then jot plans for how they should be shared. You can read them aloud yourself, ask someone else to read them, or have people read silently and then discuss.

Location:                Reasons for Picking                Plan for Sharing

1. Page ____              ______________________              __________________
   Paragraph ____          ______________________              __________________

2. Page ____              ______________________              __________________
   Paragraph ____          ______________________              __________________

Possible reasons for picking a passage to be shared:
Important ✦ Funny ✦ Surprising ✦ Confusing ✦ Informative
Controversial ✦ Well-written ✦ Thought-Provoking
Meaningful ✦ Poetic Language ✦ Powerful

Self Evaluation - Rate yourself on a scale of 1 to 5.

How well did you prepare? ☐   How well did you participate? ☐

What grade do you think you deserve? ______   Why? _______________________

__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________

Role sheets developed by Laura Candler (http://home.att.net/~candlers/resources.htm)
Based on roles found in Literature Circles: Voice and Choice in the Student-Centered Classroom by Harvey Daniels.
Your job is to find connections between the book your group is reading and the world outside. This means connecting it to your own life, to happenings outside school or in the community, to similar events at other times and places, to other people or problems that you are reminded of. You might also see connections between this book and other writings on the same topic, or by the same author.

Some connections I found between this reading and the world outside were:

1. _________________________________________________________________
   ___________________________________________________________________
2. _________________________________________________________________
   ___________________________________________________________________
3. _________________________________________________________________
   ___________________________________________________________________

Possible kinds of connections:
- Happenings at school
- World events
- Problems you have experienced
- Similar books or authors
- Subjects studied at school

---

Self Evaluation - Rate yourself on a scale of 1 to 5.

How well did you prepare? [ ] How well did you participate? [ ]

What grade do you think you deserve? _____  Why? _______________________

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
Your job is to be on the lookout for words that may be unusual, puzzling, or unfamiliar. Try to figure out their meaning from the context clues around the words. Look up the words in a dictionary and discuss them with an adult. Write a definition in your own words. Make sure that you understand the words before you meet with the group! Lead your group through a discussion of the words and their meanings.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Word</th>
<th>Page</th>
<th>Best Guess</th>
<th>Dictionary Definition</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Self Evaluation - Rate yourself on a scale of 1 to 5.

How well did you prepare? [ ] How well did you participate? [ ]

What grade do you think you deserve? _____ Why? _______________________

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________

Role sheets developed by Laura Candler (http://home.att.net/~candlers/resources.htm)
Based on roles found in Literature Circles: Voice and Choice in the Student-Centered Classroom by Harvey Daniels.
Illustrator/ Mapper

Name __________________________  Meeting Date ______________________

Book __________________________  Assignment - P _____ to P _____

Your job is to draw some kind of picture or thinking map related to the selection. You can draw a sketch, cartoon, diagram, or any kind of graphic organizer. You can illustrate something that’s discussed specifically in the book or something that the reading reminded you of, or a picture that conveys any idea or feeling you got from the reading. Make your illustration on another sheet of paper and attach it to this one before handing in this assignment.

Presentation Plan: Show your illustration without comment to others in the group. One at a time, they get to speculate what your picture means, to connect the drawing to their own ideas about the reading. After everyone has had a say, you get the last word: tell them what your picture means, where it came from, or what it represents to you.

Comments to share with your group (reasons why you drew that illustration, what it means to you, what part of the story it represents, etc.):
__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________

Self Evaluation - Rate yourself on a scale of 1 to 5.

How well did you prepare? [ ]  How well did you participate? [ ]

What grade do you think you deserve? _____  Why? _________________________
__________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________

Role sheets developed by Laura Candler (http://home.att.net/~candlers/resources.htm)
Based on roles found in Literature Circles: Voice and Choice in the Student-Centered Classroom by Harvey Daniels.