Flashback!

In chapter 3, Aimee has a flashback. The story jumps time from the present, back to the past!

What is it that Aimee flashes back to?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

What clues, as readers, can we notice in order to understand that this is a flashback?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

Why would the author include this flashback? Why is it important to our story?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________

Think about the piece you have been writing, how could you use a flashback in order to better tell the story of your adversity?
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________